AUDITOR FLYNN URGES AUTOISTS TO REGISTER CARS IN COUNTY

In Order to Keep Road Appropriation From Being Spent Elsewhere Give Local Address

Elsewhere in this paper is an announcement made by Dan P Flynn, assessor of San Mateo County relative to the registration of automobiles for the coming year. This announcement should be carefully studied by every automobile owner in the county as it effects everyone who operates a car on the highways of this county.

As the county receives half of the registration fees of all of the cars registered in the county, to be used for the road fund, it is important that every car owned in this county be registered here. According to the assessor large numbers of automobile owners who have offices in the county register their cars from their office address, thus giving the appropriation which rightfully belongs to San Mateo county to San Francisco. Also a large number of the county residents move to San Francisco during the winter months and as the registration of the cars comes in the winter season they give their San Francisco address instead of their home address with consequent loss to the county. Also in the southern end of the county a large number of residents receive their mail from post offices outside of the county, and if in the registration of their cars, they give their post office address they divert the money from San Mateo county to Santa Clara or Santa Cruz counties.

According to the assessor, if the cars rightfully belong to San Mateo had all been registered in the county last year, the appropriation to the road fund would have been increased by about twenty-five percent. As the county needs the money for the up-keep of its roads, it is earnestly hoped that the automobile owners who live here and use the roads will respond to the appeal of Assessor Flynn in this regard.

LEGION PLANS TO OPERATE GYM

As Redwood City is about to become the home of the most beautiful high school, in the most beautiful location that could have been chosen for such a purpose—so also is the town to become the location of one of the largest and best equipped gymnasiums in the state, if the plans of the local Post No. 105, American Legion, can be carried out.

At the present time the High School district has the use of the present gym, and will relinquish it when their own new gym is completed on their own campus, leaving it under the direction and ownership of the Redwood City Grammar School district, the original grantees from the Hawes Estate, who specified upon the grant that the ground and buildings should be used for nothing else but school purposes.

It is the plan of the Legion Post to get permission from the school board of trustees of the Redwood City Grammar School district to operate the gymnasium, free of all expense to anyone except the Post, and entirely for the benefit of the youth of the town. This is something that the school district has been unable to afford and it will be the means of utilizing an otherwise burden on the district.

Several members of the Post, who have had former experiences in gym work and the proper handling of the same, will donate their evenings from seven to nine, for the benefit of the youngsters. This will insure proper care for all, and with what material already stored away in the grammar school, and a few replacements, Redwood City, will soon have something that few towns of its size can boast.

To the old timers who recall the excellent results achieved by the Bachelor Club, in the same way, this will be welcome news.

FRED TWOMBLY HIT BY AUTO CROIX DE GUERRE MAN HURT

Fred W. Twombley, well-konwn Redwood City young man and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Twombley of 744 Fuller street, is at the Lane hospital in San Francisco in a precarious condition as the result of injuries received when struck by two automobiles New Year's Eve while returning from San Francisco.

The young man had been in the city with relatives to hail the approaching new year and was returning home after witnessing the festivities when the accident occured.

While crossing the Mission street conduct his hat blew off. He stopped the car, alighted and stooped to pick up the hat when a machine struck him. A machine following then ran over him and broke a number of bones and caused serious internal injuries.

The young man who is an employee of the Cullen Company of this city, is an overseas veteran. He saw service with Company K, 128th Infantry. He was wounded three times and gassed twice in the service and was awarded the Croix de Guerre for saving the life of his lieutenant under circumstances requiring great bravery.

It is hoped that the young man will recover from his injuries.

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of San Mateo.

PESCADERO PEBBLES

New Years was celebrated with considerable spirit in Pescadero There is an atmosphere of the happiest anticipation manifested everywhere here. A general feeling prevails that this section of the world is on the eve of the greatest economic expansion in its history. This view is entertained by many on the basis of the wonderful progress so far made in the artichoke culture. Already conditions inidcate the presence of a prosperity reminiscent of the community's best days of the past. A survey of improvements evident during the past year would make up a very consistent argument toward supporting the optimism of those people who point out that Pescadero is going ahead by leaps and bounds.

Everyone connected with the Pescadero Union High School is rejoicing over the good fortune of the school in its being the recipient of what will in no doubt constitute a splendid foundation for a well balanced high school library. This foundation is being laid by Mr. Ed Weeks in the shape of a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica, in all twenty-five beautiful bound volumes of inexhaustible interest and information for all the young people of this vicinity who will enter into their high school educational careers in the Pescadero Union High School for years and years to come. Altogether the Pescadero Union High School is enjoying the patronage of some wonderfully fine people The interest they display in this connection disloses the assuring fact that education in its higher phases can always be depended upon to find staunch friends everywhere—Pescadero as elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Crandall, who are spending their holidays in their beautiful mountain home up in the gorgeous Pescadero Creek country, are enjoying the presence among them of Mr. Crandall's sister, Mrs. Madigan, a resident of Arizona. The environment of Pescadero is by no means new to Mrs. Madigan. She has spent considerable time here on previous occasions. It happens that Mrs. Madigan knows where to vacation

The Community Center here in Pescadero has been very handsomely started on its New Year way by a very generous cash endowment from Mrs Asa T. Weeks. The Weeks were among the many folks here in Pescadero who have spent the most of their holidays in our own beautiful surroundings, of which the "Igloo of the Level Loa" is a marked spot. Just to use that word gorgeous again it is worth while noting that the winter rains have dabbed the undulating landscape here in any direction with a large scale of display of "gorgeous" tints in green. For those who have time to throw a tempermental fit about it, it might be stated with a little more literary atmosphere; but they are there at any rate.

HENRY BEEGER ENGAGED

An engagament of much interest in this community is that of Henry Beeger, town trustee of Redwood City and Miss Dove Hart, who has charge of the X-ray and bacteriology department of the Mills Memorial Hospital, San Mateo.

Mr. Beeger is the son of Mrs. H. Beeger of this city. He was born and raised here, and is a graduate of the local schools and of Stanford University. He is a member of a number of fraternal organizations and is one of the most popular of the younger set in this community.

Miss Hart is a charming young woman. Her family resides in Salinas where she spent her girlhood. She is a graduate of the University of California.

The date of the wedding has not been set

COUNTY OFFICERS TO BEGIN TERMS

Next Monday the newly elected county officials will take their offices for the full four year term. The only new name to be added to the roster of office holders will be Heber W. Lampkin, who moves up from the deputyship to become sheriff of San Mateo County. Mr. Sheehan, who has been sheriff for the past eight years, will retire from public life and will reside at his home on the State Highway, south of Redwood City.

In the other offices P. P. Chamberlain is patriarch by reason of long service. Mr Chamberlain has been treasurer of San Mateo County for forty years and because of his efficiency and popularity bids fair to hold the office many years more. Roy W. Cloud, County Superintendent of Schools, is second on the list in the point of service. Mr. Cloud has been in his office for sixteen years and has been elected five times.

Ambrose McSweeney, tax-collector and Fraklin Swart, district attorney, are now entering upon their thirteenth year in the county employ and both received large complimentary votes at the recent election. Dr W A Brooke, coroner and public administrator, is next in point of time. He was appointed to succeed the late H. G. Plymire and has been elected three times. J. J Shields county auditor has also been elected three times and is to begin his ninth year in the service. Daniel P. Flynn, who was appointed to succeed the late C. D. Hagard, as assessor, has two elections to his credit.

T. C. Rice, county recorder, was re-elected and will begin his second term. Mr. Rice has charge of the recording of all documents that are recorded in the county.

George A. Kneese, county surveyor, was re-elected after a successful four-year term and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Nash, who had high vote in the election, and who was appointed county clerk upon the death of her husband, Joseph H. Nash, nearly four years ago, will begin her second term.

In the township offices, Justices Ray Griffin and Constable Martin Walsh are veterans of several elections in which they have always come out winners

Superior Judge George H. Buck who has served San Mateo County so long and so faithfully was not a candidate at this election, his term having two years more to run. Supervisor John McBain also has two years more before he will have to come before the people for re-election.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR CORNELISON

When John J. Cornelison said, "Gas pipes bounce off too easily, after this we'll use steel bars," he probably did not know just how soon he would be surrounded by the very implement whose use he intended. The jury brought in an unanimous verdict of guilt last Wednesday with a recommendation of life imprisonment in one of the state prisons, following a trial which extended over four days.

Cornelison was arrested last September for suspected implication in the murder of Carl Ersepke, a shop worker of Daly City, who was beaten to death by several striking shopmen while returning to his home after work.

James Hanley, attorney for the defense, called as witnesses the defendant's mother, Mrs. Mary S. Cornelison, and brother, Ramond Cornelison, also Howard Yost, D. B. Huggins and L. G. Gordon, all three connected with the Federation of Railway Employees, in an effort to establish an alibi.

The district attorney called as witnesses for the prosecution three of the others who are held on suspicion for complicity in the same offense. These are Eddie Congdon, who told of having conspired with the defendant and others to murder Ersepke, Fred Merman, who admitted having received $37.50 from Cornelison for his part of the crime, and Stephen Apostoles who claimed that his machine was hired by the labor union for taxi service around the city and who claimed that he drove the party to the scene of the murder. Several other witnesses were also called by Swart for the prosecution, including Rudolph Ersepke, a brother of the murdered man who was with him at the time of his murder and who was also attacked by the thugs.

The jury was out only about two hours when the verdict was returned. The court set Monday at one o'clock as the time for giving the sentence. The trial of another of the conspirators, Claude Merritt, was started while the jury was out in the Cornelison case, and testimony was heard on Thursday afternoon and yesterday the jury went out at 3:45 and remained out until 6:30 when no agreement could be reached the jury was dismissed.

Mr. Barrett is a brilliant young lawyer who graduated from Stanford some years ago from the law department with a splendid record. He is sure to be successful at the capital. During the last campaign he managed the contest for the supreme court for Judge Charles A. Shurtleff. He showed a wonderful executive ability and political tact in handling that campaign.

NIGHT SCHOOL REOPENS

The Sequoia night school will reopen January 9, after a two weeks' Christmas vacation. Hereafter all classes, including those of Mr. Gill and Miss Proctor, will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. In nearly all classes new students may enroll for the coming months. The courses now offered are: Beginning and advanced Gregg shorthand, beginning and advanced bookkeeping, accounting, typeriting, sewing, millinery, woodwork, English for foreigners, Spanish and French classes begin at 7:15.

To the sewing and millinery classes women may come at any time with heir individual problems. So ladies, if you want to know how to remodel that dress or whether to use black buttons or red, go to the night school where you will find a woman eager to help you. The same is true of Mr. Gill's classes, only ask him about wood work, not buttons and dresses.

A class in arithmetic will be organized if enough apply for it. If you are interested, communicate with Miss Neff, principal of the night school, or appear Tuesday evening at 7:15 in the office of the high school.

PETE LARACOU RESIGNS

At the last meeting of the Redwood City Board of Trustees the resignation of P. J. Laracou as deputy marshall was received and accepted by the board, Laracou's resignation followed his appointment by sheriff Lamqkin as deputy sheriff. Upon the recommendation of City Marshall Collins the board appointed Edward McAuliffe to fill the vacancy caused by Laracou's resignation and then appointed Stanley D. Woods to McAuliffe's position as extra night watchman.

An application was received by the board from an organization called "40 Hommes 8 Cheveaux" to hold a dance in the Forester's Hall Jan 13. This organization was said to be connected with the American Legion, but as no one present knew of such connecion or of the organization the matter was referred to Trustee Mabie, chairman of the police committe for investigation, the board giving him full power to act in the matter.

A comunication was received from the Southern Pacific relative to the request of the board to have a flagman at the crossings of Beech and Cedar streets to take the palce of the electric bells now in use. The traffic had been checked on these crossings, said the comunication and was not sufficient to warrant the placing of a flagman there. The company was, however, it was stated planning installing an interlocking system of switches whirh would reduce the ringing of the bells. The clerk was asked to write to the Southern Pacific and ask a speedy instillation of this system.

The Pacific Telegraph and Telephone Company furnished a bond of $1,000 for the maintenance of the street torn up by the company in installing its underground lines was also received by the board.

RETIRES AFTER FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Antone Genochio did not go back to his place at the Frank Tannery last Tuesday morning. For more than forty years, rain or shine, Mr. Genochio has been at his place as foreman of the beam house at Franks. He has seen men come and go, but he was there on duty at all times. In November he told Mr. Henry Steinberger, manager of the tannery that he intended to retire December 31st. With that in mind he broke John Andrine into the job so that the work would run on as it should.

Mr. Genochio was born here and has reared his family here. His oldest son, Dr. Edward Genochio, is one of the prominent physicians of San Francisco. His other son, Philip, is in the sheet metal business in San Francisco. His daughters are Mrs. Dr. Howard Dixon of San Francisco, Mrs. E. Piscara of Daly City and Mrs. A. Guido of San Mateo.

Mr. Genochio has been fortunate in business ventures and can now spend his remaining days in comfort and plenty at his home on Steinberger street.

Dr. Campbell was a country school teacher before becoming a professor and so understands public school problems He is the father of Douglas Campbell who had the destinction of becoming the first American Ace during the World War.

At the conclusion of the installation, Dr. Tully Knoles, President of the University of the Pacific, gave a splendid address. Dr. Knoles is a magnetis speaker and his themes are always entertaining and instructive.

An adjournment was then taken to the Civic Auditorium, where a bountiful banquet, prepared under the capable managment of Mark E. Ryan was thoroughly enjoyed. After the banquet short and pointed talks and stories topped off the evening's pleasure.

LOCAL PASTOR RESIGNS POST AFTER MANY YEARS OF SERVICE

Rev. C. H. Stevens, of Redwood City Congregational Church to Accept a Charge in Lodi, Calif.

Rev. C. H, Stevens, pastor of the First Congregational Church, surprised his parishoners, Thursday evening at the mid-week meeting by anouncing his resignation from the local pastorage. The people of the church had no idea that Rev. Stevens contemplated such action as he had but recently returned from a three months vacation in Europe and on Sunday last had helped to dedicate the fine new church which had been built for him.

Mr. Stevens explained that he had received a call to become the minister of the Congregational Church at Lodi, California, and felt that he could do better work there than he could do by remaining here. He expects to take over his new charge in February.

Rev. Mr. Stevens came to Redwood City from San Rafael ten years ago and his pastorage was the second longest of any minister of his denomination in Northern California. It is not usual for clergyman to remain in one place so long. During his pastorage here Mr. Stevens has made a host of friends who regret to see him leave this section. Not only will Mr. Stevens be missed, but Mrs. Stevens will also leave a place that will be hard to fill. She has been a most active worker in the church and her wonderful sweet voice has added materially to all of the church services.

The trustees of the church have made no plans in the selection of a new minister but will appoint committees to take charge of pulpit supply, etc., until a regular pastor has been secured.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1923

A RETROSPECT

The New Year was quietly ushered in last Monday morning at one minute past midnight of January 1st. There was little excitement. A few bells were rung and the Tannery whistle gave a few toots. Most of the people of the town were at home and a large percentage of them were in bed. We can remember back a few years at New Years when our old friend, John Barleycorn, was here that most of the people of the town were down town, rain or shine, many of them were hilariously happy, there was always a fight or two to liven things up a bit. Every bell in town was kept in motion for about an hour. Every whistle was tied down and blew as long as there was enough steam to make a noise. But as one of our friends remarked, "Them days are gone forever."

THE HIGHWAY AGAIN

Once again we are met by the statement that the East Side Highway is to be built. San Francisco is going to attend to the matter. The city is going to take the construction problem to the State Legislature, and have its big delegation put through a bill which will make the stretch of road through San Mateo county a part of the State Highway System, which the State must build and maintain.

Personally ,as we have remarked on numerous occasions, we don't care who builds it, providing it is built. Also it ought to be a state road. While San Francisco will derive the greatest amount of good from the road, from a pleasure as well as a business standpoint, the whole state will be benefited as the road is sorely needed. We don't like to tell how many accidents there were over the holidays, but some people feel that human lives are cheaper than highways. We hope San Francisco will be successsful.

PREMATURE JUBILATION

The radical legislative program in Congress is having some hard sledding. Much of the Democratic support that was counted on is falling away. Many of the items are too revolutionary for the Democrats to swallow. In spite of their desire to bring discomfort to the Republicans. The ship aid bill may fail of passage, but it will not be because of an adverse vote. Only a frank and determined filibuster can defeat it. It is becoming more apparent that the jubilation of the radicals after the November elections was quite premature.

TWO FOOLISH MEN

Clemenceau tells us he wants America to go over and interfere in European affairs. He does not know just exactly what he wants it to do, but it should do something. The "Tiger" is as about as absurd in his old age as Mr. Wilson was in his prime.

McCABE RETIRES

In the retirement of Alexander McCabe as State Insurance Commissioner, California loses an efficient and capable official who by superior ability has brought that office to a high standard of efficiency. All insurance men acknowledge that he has made the best commissioner the state has ever had. He has been fair and just in the administration of the affairs of the office, protecting the interests of the public always and at the same time dealing justly with the insurance companies. It is to be regretted that the state has to lose the services of so efficient an official, who retires to engage in private business which will be more remunerative. Mr. McCabe carries with him to his new enterprise the best wishes of the people of the State of California for his success.

VICTORY BONDS

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has made every possible effort to call the attention of holders of Victory bonds to the fact that certain bonds were called and were payable December 15, after which date interest ceased. Nevertheless, there are millions of dollars of these bonds that have not been presented for payment, presumably through oversight. If you don't need the money, Uncle Sam will keep it for you, but he would be glad to exchange a called bond for another that will bear interest.

Daughtery still reigns in the Department of Justice and the laws continue to be enforced, despite the activities of Mr. Gompers and others who would have it otherwise.

The trouble with Europe is a state of mind, and not inability to produce cash as some of our European visitors would have us believe. Let the nations over there compose their differences of opinion and come to an agreement on reparations, and stability will soon follow.

Concentration is the life of work.

Everybody prides himself on being a judge of human nature

You often hear of a man who has a hard time spending his money, but have you ever seen one?

Duck Hunting Reminiscences

By CLAUDE FOX

Upon arriving home we divided up the ducks so that each member of the party had sufficient for a good teal, spoonbill and sprig dinner. So far as I was personally concerned I was determined that my young pupil should have sufficient to please his mother. You see I had an axe to grind, an objective to be attained. That boy was simply crazy over wild duck hunting and knowing full well, as I did, that he was going to become a splendid wing shot, I wished to at once and for all time sweep away all parental objections to his further pursuit of wild water fowl.

So when George landed home safe and sound with a fine bunch of birds his mother was so delighted and grateful for the treatment her boy had received, his absolute safety and the extreme pleausure he had derived from the hunt, that all future objections to his pilgrimages into the marshland were swept aside and the kid was considered from thenceforth a full fledged duck hunter. Believe me too, he was an apt pupil. Every word that was uttered by his older companions on the subject nearest his heart was devoured with an eggernes that was intensified by his great desire to obtain all the knowledge possible on the subject of wild duck hunting and shooting.

From thenceforth it certainly behooved the wild ducks in this vicinity to look well to their safety for we were after them continually. I had had more than my share of duck hunting up to the time that I first began to associate with Geo. Genochio, had killed thousands of them, and was entitled to be placed on the retired list, but the very intensity of his passionate interest in the sport seemed to put new impetus and longing for the marshland into my own being, and any thought of retirement this side of eternity is now forever banished.

Well George no sooner became aware of the fact that he was at liberty to go hunting when he pleased than he began to make large demands on the spare time of his brother, Louis. Now that particular brother of George's is some mechanic and he soon found out that his services in that line were going to be needed quite often. George had to have more decoys made, a big stool of "cans", for Smith's creek and the Elbow, and about five dozen sprig, widgeon and spoonbills for the patch of weeds. Then more small boats were required and it kept Louie on the hop to meet all of his kid brother's demands. Had Louie at that time been enamored of the feminine sex he surely would have had little time to take his girl to the skating rink.

The decoys and boats were forthcoming as fast as they could be manufactured. In fact George got about everything he asked for in that line, and be it said to his credit that in return he kept the Genochio larder pretty well supplied at all times with not only wild ducks, but every variety of game.

During the intervening time between boat building and the manufacture of decoys that old itchy, marshy feeling, that longing, the call of the wild, had to be gratified, and we were away together on every occasion when other matters did not interfere with our sport.

It will be practically impossible for me to enumerate in detail and describe all the hunts in which we participated, not only for lack of space, but Mr. O'Keefe, expects to retire some day as the evening of life draws near, and I fear when that time comes were I to put in print the continuous rounds of happy duck hunting trips whch I enjoyed with my kid partner during the succeeding years.

I shall therefore, only attempt to place before the readers of the Times-Gazette the most important of those hunts as viewed purely from a duck hunter's standpoint of what is interesting.

Of course in those days a launch was not to be had in this vicinity and when we started on a duck hunt it was a case of row or scull. With a small boat for each man, so as to give plenty of room for carrying the decoys, we got along very nicely, but sometimes it was a long grinding trip home from the bay shore against the tide when one was all tired out after a strenuous day's hunt. The grand shoots we had together amply repaid us for all the hardships we went through and a few days' rest was all that was required to again start that longing and feverish anxiety to mix matters with the webfoots once again.

One hunt in particular that impressed itself indelibly upon my mind took place in the earlier period of our duck hunting career. It took us about an hour and a quarter to row out to the old time stake and then about fifteen or twenty minutes to drop down into the bight at the patch of weeds, and set out our decoys.

One morning George and I left about two hours before daybreak and started for the bay. It was a calm morning with not a breath of wind and weather conditions, according to my idea, was not suitable for much of a shoot. But when I had made arrangements with that kid to go duck hunting, go I must, for he would not take no for an answer.

We reached the bight in plenty of time and soon had our decoys strung out in the most enticing manner. Day started to break, that time of day when a wild duck hunter's nerves are on the high and every faculty awake for the first flutter of those restless wings.

We were sitting pretty well up at the head of the patch of weeds, where the water now is quite shallow, but where at that time a duck boat could float for some time after the tide started on the ebb. Our grassed boats were lying beside each other, with the decoys spread out in front of us. Suddenly there came that rapid whir of wings, which belongs to the little green-winged teal, and four splashed into the water just just outside the decoys. I had previously told George to always shoot first and take his time. He was learning so fast that he obeyed my instructions to the letter. The teal had bunched up pretty well and as my companion raised to shoot the thought struck me that there was no need of my preparing to get into action. He killed three at the first shot, the fourth raising beautifully against the back ground of fast breaking day. Then that nervous anxious feeling got the best of him and he shot too quickly, missing clean, but I had the little drake at my mercy and smothered him with a charge of No. 7.

For over a half hour we did not secure another shot, when the tide started on the ebb and a few birds commenced to move. A small bunch of "spooneys" swung in and we got three of them and shortly afterward two widgeon made love to our decoys and died before they had a chance to alight The tide was now dropping fast and I knew that in a short time our boats and the decoys would be on the mud. I was just about to suggest that we move out further toward the point when a bunch of twenty-five to thirty teal brushed over the tulies and made a letter "S" swing close in. Some of them never tried that trick again

The water was fast leaving us now. I informed George that we would have a long wait for the afternoon tide and probably we would not secure any more shooting until the water again reached the decoys. He wanted to make a day of it, so I agreed to do so but it was against my judgment, as I disliked to sit in a boat for four hours, with decoys on the mud and nothing to shoot at.

There was quite a number of sprig around here at that time and during the long wait I could see a number of flocks flying south along the outside shore and dropping down near West point. I had no more idea that we were going to get a few nice shots at those very birds before the day was over than I had of flying to the moon, but in duck hunting you are learning something every day, some new stunt the wild birds are pulling off, that often takes one by surprise.

Finally along in the afternoon the tide started to come back but it seemed a long time reaching our decoys. George's boat was lying just to the south of mine and he startled me by suddenly exclaiming, "What are these coming, Peco?" Looking quickly I saw it was a small bunch of Sprig leading directly for us. Our decoys were two hundred feet away from the water and these birds were leading across toward us when their natural line of flight should have been up and around the point. I did not ponder long in thought.

"Get down kid, there is a shot there," I said and down we were in a moment.

Those fool ducks came straight along, set their wings when they saw our decoys on the mud, and we doubled up a pair as they passed over. Others followed at intervals on the same line of flight and in a very short time we had secured thirteen, of the finest sprig that you would ever want to look at. Why they took the course they did has ever been a mystery to me but I know one thing that George was so happy he was singing songs all the way home, and we even today speak of that hunt as one of the most productive as well as peculiar in our whole hunting career.

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Fifty cents of every dollar paid by automobile and motor vehicle owners for licenses is apportioned by the State to the counties from which the cars are registered to be used in maintaining roads.

In San Mateo County there are peculiar conditions due to the fact that many whose homes are here spend a portion of the year in San Francisco; many residents of the County have San Francisco offices; residents of Daly City receive their mail through the San Francisco postoffice; and residents of some of the southern sections receive their mail through postoffices in Santa Clara County.

Thus a large amount of money justly belonging to San Mateo County for road maintenance is apportioned to other counties because the automobiles are registered from outside postoffice addresses or city homes or offices.

When applying for your license for 1923, BE SURE TO REGISTER YOUR AUTOMOBILE FROM SAN MATEO COUNTY, where the money justly belongs and where it is needed for road maintenance.

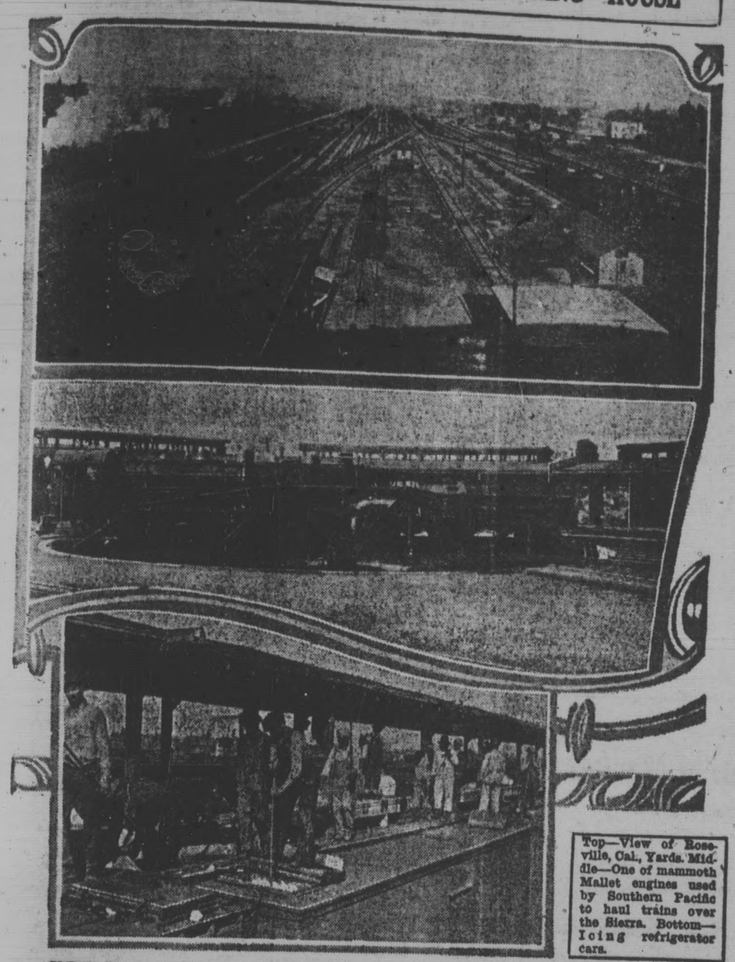
ROSEVILLE—FREIGHT TRAFFIC CLEARING HOUSE



Top—View of Roseville, Cal., Yards. Middle—One of mammoth Mallet engines used by Southern Pacific to haul trains over the Sierra. Bottom—Icing refrigerator cars.

While Exclusive Central Pacific Point, Roseville is Doing Work Affecting Thousands of Square Miles of Territory Along Southern Pacific Lines.

From the southernmost points in California to Portland, from the Golden Gate to the precipitous sides of the Sierra Nevada and from the valleys and hillsides of two great states, there pours, to and fro, a constant stream of freight. Originating in small rivulets, it gathers volume as it comes upon the main arteries of transportation and becomes a raging current when it strikes the head of the traffic flume. This headgate—diverting traffic over the mountain barrier to the east, over lines to north, west and south—is Roseville, eighteen miles east of Sacramento on rails between that city and Ogden.

Roseville is located on one of the lines of the Southern Pacific System which stands in the corporate name of the Central Pacific.

Roseville, to most of the people living on the Pacific Coast, is merely the name of a community situated in Northern California. Little does the average layman realize that this town, "unhonored and unsung," is the greatest freight traffic clearing house in the west and is of vital importance to the growers, shippers, merchants, and, in fact, to all residents of California, Oregon and Nevada.

Roseville, the gathering point for traffic from the north, south and west, destined to the east and the distributing point from Nevada and the East to Oregon and California points, is at the head of a flume of transportation. Traffic from the north, west and south comes to Roseville over Southern Pacific and Central Pacific rails and goes east via Central Pacific to Ogden. Traffic from the east comes to Roseville over Central Pacific rails and is distributed from Roseville over Southern Pacific and Central Pacific. Roseville empties its burden in four directions, east, west, south and north.

Co-ordinated Activity.

Drawing its grist from a thousand mills, Roseville's activities are interrelated with the traffic problem in every part of the Pacific Coast. Lumber from Northern California, coast points vies with fruit from the Ojai valley, near Ventura, and apples from the Rogue River, in Oregon, in seeking a speedy, steady and reliable outlet to market. The gathering of this immense tonnage from points in every part of the states of California and Oregon constitutes one of the great accomplishments of western transportation. Its distribution to its various destinations is the work of Roseville, and the equipment, both mechanical and human, is remarkable and discloses the extent and perfection of the organization built up by many years of thought and action by the Southern Pacific Company.

Thirty-five miles of track are used in the process of handling cars and trains in four directions by the operating force at Roseville. A train of miscellaneous freight—embracing perishables, lumber, merchandise, manufactured goods, live stock and various other commodities may originate in the San Joaquin valley. This train is sent to Roseville. Cars in the train may be destined for points east, for localities in Oregon and for points west within the state of California. It is the job of Roseville to assemble these cars both according to destination and to the character of equipment into trains and move them with the least possible delay and with the greatest possible degree of safety for their contents. If Roseville handled but a few trains a day, the work would be comparatively easy. This, however, is not the case. On September 24th, last, twenty-eight trains were received from the west, eight from the north and thirteen from the east. Sixteen trains were delivered to the west, three to the north and twelve to the east. On October 10th, last, the greatest car movement in the history of the system took place when 1453 cars were handled over the summit of the Sierra Nevada. During the month of October, the yards at Roseville handled 94,000 car movements. If these cars were coupled to each other they would cover a distance of railroad track equal to the mileage between the ferry building in San Francisco to Winnemucca, Nevada—460 miles.

One of the most important functions of Roseville is in the distribution of cars to points on the Pacific coast where they are needed for loading. There can be no hit or miss system in the handling of empty equipment. As a consequence, Roseville is held largely responsible for the equipment that is loaded daily through a major part of California and Oregon—both on Southern Pacific and Central Pacific rails.

Important to West.

While Roseville is located on rails, owned by the Central Pacific, the point has been developed by the entire Pacific system of the Southern Pacific. It has been shown that much more tonnage flowing through Roseville originates on Southern Pacific rails than on purely Central Pacific rails. Possibility of a disruption of the system, as a result, threatens serious consequences for Roseville, the Central Pacific and the parent system.

The Pacific Fruit Express plant, one of the greatest facilities of its kind in the country, is located at Roseville. Thousands of cars are iced here annually. The shops and repair yards of the P. F. E. are extensive and handle work from the building of a refrigerator car to the smallest repair. In addition to a storage capacity of 45,000 tons, the ice plant manufactures 500 tons a day. Refrigerator cars are iced at Roseville before being sent to their various loading stations and re-iced when they return to the point for distribution to their various destinations.

Due to the heavy grades and the character of the country through which it passes, the line over the Sierra Nevada presents innumerable operating difficulties. Mile after mile of snow sheds protect the tracks from the heavy snow fall of the mountains. Moreover, to successfully negotiate the Ogden gateway, with an immense tonnage of freight that will not permit of delay, the Southern Pacific has concentrated at Roseville, in addition to much other motive power, forty-nine huge Mallet locomotives. Each of these monsters has a tractive power of 94,800 pounds. On a straight level track a Mallet could haul 235 cars, loaded to fifty tons capacity at ten miles per hour. Yet it is found necessary, at times, to attach three of these engines to a train over the summit of the Sierra.

Locomotive Cab in Front.

The Mallets are unique in railroad circles in many respects, but none more so than in the location of the engine cab. On account of their length and the presence of snow sheds, it was found necessary to place the cab in front, rather than at the rear. This arrangement gives them a hobgoblin appearance but enables enginemen to see ahead of their train and saves them from the gases and fumes from the firebox. In railroad parlance, these locomotives are "wampuses."

In the Roseville shops, roundhouse and car department, every kind of a light and heavy repair is made.

In addition to the other ramifications of the Roseville yards, thousands of head of live stock, shipped from and to California points, are rested, fed and watered at the stock pens located there.

Roseville has been properly termed the focal point—the hub—of California and Oregon traffic. Its work and activities are co-ordinated with those of the Southern Pacific System. Its use to the system as a whole is vital. Its position, in case of separation of the roads, would be difficult to foresee, but it is evident that its present function would be greatly impaired, to the disadvantage of Pacific Coast shippers.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH DEDICATED

The dedication services of the First Congregational church were carried through according to schedule last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The exercises were all well attended and marked the fruition of the plans of the Church people over which they have worked for the past three years. It was hoped that the building, which with all of its furnishings cost over $40,000, could be dedicated free from debt. This was not accomplished, however, as the final collections which were taken each day during the services, did not quite bring the desired amount; but when the count was made it was found that less than $600 was necessary to pay all bills and put the church out of debt so far as building, furniture, carpets, pipe organ and windows are concerned. It is expected that this amount will soon be raised.

All of the addresses were good and impressed the hearers as just the right kind for such an occassion.

At the morning services, Sunday, the Holy Communion was administered, five babies were baptised and twenty-four new members were taken into full fellowship.

The final service, a contata, "The Beatitudes," given by a choir led by Mr. O. M. Carrington and with Miss Clarissa Dodge and Miss Florence Craig, the organists, assisting, was a fitting conclusion for such a dedication and a crowded church sat and enjoyed every strain of the well prepared program.

Special mention should be made of Dr. Pond, who delivered the dedicatory prayer Dr. Pond resided in Redwood City for a number of years. He is past 90 years of age and has been active in Congregational work in California for over sixty years.

Another special feature was the dedication of the big window representing the Ascension which was given by the local American Legion as a memorial to their comrades who passed on during the late war. A large attendance of Legion boys was present.

The building is a beautiful structure. It is of pressed brick face and stucco construction. There are a number of beautiful stained glass windows which have been placed as memorials by the Hughes family, Mr. and Mrs E. R. Whitehead, the Locker family, Mrs. E. A. Stevens, and others. The pipe organ which is as fine as it is melodious was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Behrens.

The building committee is as follows:

L. P. Behrens, Chairman; Donald W. Williams, Roy W. Cloud, C. M. Doxsee, F. K. Towne, W. A. Crowell, Dr. J. P. H. Dykes, Rev. C. H. Stevens, D. R. Frasier, Mrs. Sarah Wentworth, Donald MacKenzie, John Gill, Otis M. Carrington, Henry Martens, Mrs. Frank Blomquist.

Rev. Mr. Stevens is to be congratulated upon the thoroughness with which the plans were carried out and upon the general success of the services.

PIONEER FIRM CELEBRATES

On Wednesday Levy Bros. of San Mateo celebrated their 50th anniversary. January 3, 1873 Joseph and Ferdinand Levy opened a small store in Halfmoon Bay. Later two other brothers, Armand and Adrien Levy, came from France and joined the firm. Branches were then opened in San Gregoria and Pescadero. About twenty years ago a store was opened in San Mateo. This grew so rapidly that the other places were closed and San Mateo became their headquarters. The Levy Brothers have been good men for San Mateo county. The Times-Gazette joins their many friends in congratulating them on their Golden Anniversary.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ORGANIZED AT RUNNYMEDE

The Ravenswood Chamber of Commerce was permanently organized last night, at a meeting held at the residence of J. H. Stubbe, in Runnymede. This organization represents the Ravenswood School district, including Runnymede, North Palo Alto and adjacent territory. The constitution and by-laws, which were prepared by a committee, appointed at a previous meeting were adopted.

The following directors were elected: R. R. Waterbury, M. C. Gallagher, E. R. Lam, E. M. Tobin, J. A. Cameron, A Davis, J. H. Stubbe, C. W. Converse, W. A. Romes, L. H. Brown. The following officers were elected: President, R. R. Waterbury, Vice-President, C. W. Converse; Secretary-Treasurer, J. H. Stubbe.

Some of the purposes of this organization are: To support movements now under way for the erection of a bridge at Dumbarton point, and construction of the new highway from San Francisco; to stimulate social activities in the district; to study the question of better transportation facilities; to devise some means of securing street lights and additional fire protection.

These are only a few of the many problems to be handled for the entire district.

The members of the board of directors constitute a temporary membership committe, and will receive applications for membership, or applications will be received by the secretary, J. H. Stubbe. A meeting has been arranged for the very near future, the date to be announced later.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS AT SAN MATEO

The Methodist young people of San Mateo county gathered at the San Mateo Mehodist church last night in the quarterly meeting of the San Mateo County Epworth League Alliance. At 7:30 a delightful dinner was served in the church parlor which put all of the delegates in a proper frame of mind for the good things that followed.

Rev. E. O. Pearman, pastor of the Daly City Methodist church, was the speaker of the evening. The quarterly meetings of the Alliance are a fine thing as they bring the young people into a close relation with their church.

Permanently Removing Spots by the F. Thomas Process
If spots come back after your clothes have been to the cleaners, cleaned by the "F. Thomas Process."
Spots that appear in clothing caused by grease, food stains, etc., quickly collect dust and dirt. They can be permanently removed by the "F. Thomas Process" without injury to the fabric.
The "F. Thomas Process" is a highly developed, scientific method of cleaning by which we obtain the perfect work for which this establishment is noted.
The cheap, "just as good" cleaner either washes your clothes in dirty gasoline, or scours his gasoline with strong sulphuric acid. It is dangerous to have your clothes cleaned in "acid" gasoline. It is economy in the long run to have your clothes they haven't been thoroughly cleaned.
Every drop of cleaning fluid that we use is carefully re-distilled in our plant. Special equipment that we have installed to properly handle this work represents an investment of thousands of dollars.

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY PLANS COLLEGE OF COMMERCE

In order to meet the growing demand for trained business men, the College of Commerce and Finance will be founded at the University of Santa Clara at the opening of the fall semester in August, 1923, it has been planned to place special emphasis on such cultural subjects as English, history, philosophy and political science, because it is believed that these subjects constitute the essentials of a college education and train men for the most effective citizenship.

It is planned to re-establish the pre-medical department on the same footing it enjoyed previous to the war, when it was recognized by most of the medical schools throughout the country.

A number of local boys attend Santa Clara who will now have a chance to take advantage of the new courses to be added.

A SCHOOL REPORT

County Superintendent of Schools Roy W. Cloud has completed his report on the "Registration of Minors," recently held in all of the school districts of San Mateo county. The report shows that there are 8,691 children between the ages of 3 and 17 years of age. Of this number 8,408 are classed as white; 28 are negroes; 54 are Chinese; 166 are Japanese; 33 are Mexicans, and 2 are classed as "other than any of the above."

Of the number who are over school age 214 attend private schools. Twenty-six are out of school because of physical disability. Ten do not attend because of mental disability. Ten are receiving instruction at home from private tutors. Eleven are out of school because of distance and 100, most of whom are from 16 to 17 years of age are out of school for no given reason.

A large number of the parents of the county are foreign born, and 202 of the fathers and 380 of the mothers do not speak English.

MASONS OF SAN JOSE WILL CONFER DEGREES

FRED JOHNSTONE, 33D
Preceptor San Jose Council No. 10 Knights Kadosh, who will confer the 30th degree at the coming reunion of the San Jose Bodies of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Masonry January 26, 27, 28.
(Bushnell Photo)

The San Jose Scottish Rite bodies will hold their winter reunion January 26, 27, and 28. At that time the Masonic degrees from the fourth to the 32d inclusive, will be conferred. It is expected that a large number of Blue Lodge members will take these higher degrees. At the last class there were sixty candidates, the largest class in the history of the Rite.

Mr. Fred Johnstone, master of the Preceptory, who will confer the 30th degree, is one of the few members of the Rite who have been honored by receiving the 33d degree. This signal distinction was conferred on him for the valuable service he rendered to the Rite in the inception of the San Jose Bodies. He is equally active at the present time in the work on the new $300,000 temple on which work will be begun in the spring.

It is expected that a large number of local Masons will take advantage of the opportunity to receive the higher degrees. Redwood City is already well represented in the San Jose Bodies of the Rite.

More Than
Two Billion Dollars Worth of Products
Manufactured in California Annually

California has already become famous throughout the nation for her climate, her tourists, her scenery, her fruit and her gold.

Yet little has been known of California's industrial wealth, for which she is also destined to become famous.

The aggregate value of the products manufactured in California is more than two billion dollars per year.

And with her expanding harbor facilities, her ample power resources, her proximity to new sources of raw material, and her ideal climate for work and play, California's industrial growth has just begun.

78% of California Oil Refined Here

Petroleum from California wells last year represented a value of $182,400,000. More than 78% of this petroleum was refined in California, the finished products having a value of more than a quarter billion dollars.

Another great industry is the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables. The aggregate value of the finished products runs over the two hundred million dollar mark. Steel shipbuilding almost equals the canning industry in total value of finished products. Meat packing is over the hundred million dollar mark. Flour milling reaches $75,000,000.

Wide Range of Industries

Lumber and timber products, printing and publishing, the production of beet sugar, tanning, currying and finishing of leather, production of tinware, manufacture of confections—all represent industries which return their millions of dollars to California every year.

Few people realize that in addition California manufactures iron and steel, food preparations of various kinds, women's clothing, men's clothing, bags and paper products, furniture, steam, gas and water engines, condensed milk, paints, electrical machinery, soap, cement, tobacco products, and chemicals. Each of these lines of industry represents a total output of more than ten million dollars per year.

And there are dozens of other lines which contribute their millions to the State's total production. A few of these are chocolate and cocoa, automobile bodies and parts, agricultural implements, photographic supplies, explosives, rubber tires, tubes and rubber products, roofing materials, fertilizers, shoes, jewelry, fur goods, etc.

California is a great industrial State as well as a leader in agricultural wealth and natural resources.

Help Us Tell the Nation These Amazing Facts About Our State

This advertisement is one of a series of three, the first devoted to telling of California's agricultural wealth, the second to California's natural resources, and the third to California's industries. These are facts of which you can well be proud.

Beautiful booklets and descriptive literature about California have been prepared by such organizations as Californians, Inc., San Francisco, by the All-Year Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, and by the San Diego-California Club, San Diego.

There are thousands of people in other States who have no conception of California's greatness. Some of them are your friends. Help us tell them.

If you will send to the Southern Pacific Company a list of the names and addresses of your friends, living elsewhere, whom you would like to have receive this series of advertisements as well as the California literature prepared by these organizations, which have for their sole purpose the advertising of California, we will see that your friends get this California literature.

Send Your List Today

Your friends will be glad to know these facts. The list of names you send us will be turned over to your own Chamber of Commerce or other civic organization, and literature will be sent telling them interesting facts about your own particular community.

Simply attach your list to the coupon below and send it to us—no obligation on your part. Do it today before you forget. In this way you will help to spread this message of California's greatness throughout the land and perform a valuable service not only to your State but to yourself and to your community.

The Chamber of Commerce held an important meeting on Thursday night There was a large attendance of the members and much business was transacted. A committee was appointed to confer with the telephone company in regard to having free switches between Menlo Park and Redwood City. The committee will advance a strong argument in favor of the proposed change. The company permitted free switching charges between these towns before the war, but stubbornly refuse to go back to the old system after the armistice.

R. E. Miller, the well-known capitalist and former president of the Owl Drug Company of San Francisco, will return from a tour of the world the latter part of this month. John S. Phippen, treasurer of the town of Mayfield, died suddenly at his home Sunday night Although he had been in poor health lately, his sudden death was unexpected. He was around town on Friday and attended to his duties as usual Saturday. He was about to retire at 9 o'clock when he was stricken and passed away.

Phippen was a native of New York aged 63 years. His father was killed in action in the Civil war and his family came to California by way of the Isthmus of Panama, locating in San Jose in 1868. When quite young he became interested in the training of trotting horses, his first six years of that work being in the employ of Col. Martin of San Jose. He left Martin in 1879 when he became identified with the Palo Alto Stock Farm, owned by Senator Stanford. He developed the celebrated trotter, "Abdell," the fastest yearling in the world at that time. During his connection with Senator Stanford's farm, for more than twenty years, he also developed the well-known "Advertiser," "Arizona," "Sunol," "Mary Osborne," and many other famous horses.

H. C. Hall, formerly principal of the Menlo Park grammar school, is mentioned as a candidate for the appointment of fish and game commissioner under the Richardson administration. Mr. Hall is a hunter of some skill and knows the haunts of the game. He would make an excellent commissioner. His numerous friends here would be pleased to have him secure this coveted prize.
